- Wind Turbines
- Hydro
- Solar
- Biomass
- Heat pumps

Clients include Perth & Kinross Council, Scottish Water and Forestry Commission Scotland (FCS).

Many of the surveying services Bell Ingram provide can add value and benefit to the public sector by:

- Generating capital or Income
- Rationalisation of property assets to reduce management costs
- Provision of specialist services with the knowledge and understanding of the public sector
- Provision of certain services at nil or low cost by recovering of costs through grants, sales or third parties

Bell Ingram was commissioned by Perth & Kinross Council to provide workshops and post-workshop consultancy, promoting and providing advice on small-scale renewables to support the development of business and community projects in rural Perth and Kinross.

The Workshops were aimed at Perth & Kinross land-based businesses, landowners and community groups and included in-depth input from Bell Ingram's Microgeneration Specialists who covered all aspects Wind Power, Hydro Power and Biomass/Ground and Air Source technologies.

Many former public sector buildings remain untouched and unsold for longer periods of time, meaning potentially hundreds of thousands of pound of valuable public assets are not being realised.

Bell Ingram property experts have been acting for the NHS in the sale of former hospital buildings in Glencoe and Bonar Bridge.

Bell Ingram has an impressive reputation in the high quality rural and residential markets so it was a natural extension for us to widen our expertise by expanding into new sectors in the commercial property sector. Our Estate agents recognised the unique selling points of each property and marketed to the right audience, freeing the assets tied up within them.

Bell Ingram secured £700,000 funding for outdoor activities.

"This is fantastic news. There are clear links and synergy between the BeSpoke proposal and environmental objectives of Falkirk council".

Bell Ingram Design was appointed as Conservation & Project Managers for the £950k restoration of the Inverness Town Steeple for The Highland Council.

Since 2006 Bell Ingram has been providing Scottish Water with a service for the disposal of redundant assets and sites throughout Scotland, removing 1500 sites from their register and generating £4.3 million in revenue.

Bell Ingram is a diverse practice of Chartered Surveyors, Forestry Managers, Estate Agents, Architects, Building Surveyors, Tourism, Planners and Green Energy Specialists.

Established in Perthshire in 1899, we are one of the UK's finest firms of independent land agents, with over 100 professional members of staff across 11 offices, we've proudly maintained our local touch.

We specialise in rural land management for private, public and corporate clients and we're one of the UK's leading providers of land management services to the energy sector. Bell Ingram has worked for major utility providers since the 1970s and more recently with large scale renewable energy producers.
