Internal doors lead into the centrally located family lounge—an accommodating and relaxing space—with French doors opening onto a large front facing patio area enjoying panoramic views of the valley to the front of the house and the hills in the distance. The hallway continues into a second corridor that provides access to four double bedrooms, occupy their own wing to allow for privacy and quiet. All four are spacious double rooms, one of which has an en-suite shower room and dressing area. In the sleeping wing is a large, four piece family bathroom.

A well-appointed family bathroom features a full-size bath, a quadrant shower cubicle with multi-jet shower, and a white two-piece suite. An external door also connects this hallway to the front of the property.

The bungalow sits within a generous plot of approximately 1.5 acres. The front garden is mainly laid to lawn and is enclosed by a wooden fence, but this does not mark the boundary of the plot (see attached plan for approximate plot boundary).
